TERM OF REFERENCE

Impact Circle in Universitas Tanjungpura "#LeadersInYOUth : Being a game changer "

A. Impact Circle in Universitas Tanjungpura

Impact circle is a community form of AIESEC in Indonesia as a platform for youth, media, and communities in Indonesia to communicate our concern well, and also develop our circle to be the best version of themselves through sessions and sharing. We do this as a platform for youth, communities and the media to discuss and communicate certain concerns related to the Sustainable Development Goals.

Never before in the history of humankind, we see a vibrant youth population with such energy and enthusiasm for tackling local and global challenges. Within the current global development agenda, youth actors are working to ensure the quality of education that prepares them to lead healthy and productive lives and contribute to their communities and countries. That's why, for this impact circle, we decided to take on SDG number 4 about "Quality Education". Until this time, the quality of education has changed a lot, since most of the youth start to re-think the future of education in Indonesia. We think that, from all of the power that exists in this world, the power of the youth will always be the essential to move and develop the quality of education.

By raising youth awareness about the importance of the quality of education, we are improving the chance of youth to participate and use their power to aim for the success development of quality education in Indonesia.

The objective of the speakers to this virtual talk are:

1. Explain the current condition of the quality education in Indonesia in the eyes of the youth
2. Share perspective and experience about what youth can do to influence others about the importance of education.

B. Speaker Profile

By the explanation that has been stated in the previous chapter, we found out Ms. Nurul Fajry Maulida is suitable to be our panelist by experience in terms of development of quality education as well as to create movements for the impact.
